My style

I love to socialize with other people and make new friends. I love the outdoors such as outdoor volleyball, mountain climbing, dirt biking, snowboarding, etc. I am a chill guy that is fun to be around.

What I value

I value family, friends, and education. My family is everything to me. They are fun to be around and teach me a lot. My friends help me live life easier and better.

When is the best time to approach me?

I'm most approachable when I am not doing work or school. When I'm on my free time, I am better approachable.

How best to communicate with me

It is best to communicate with me by being straight up about everything. We have to joke around and be completely honest to each other

How do I make decisions?

I make decisions logically. I look at the facts. I apply little emotion to the decision making process. I look at the consequences logically with certain decisions.

What people misunderstand about me

People misunderstand that I laugh at a lot more than others. People misunderstand the humor that I have and the jokes I tell. It is rare to find friends that get me exactly.

How can people help me

People can help me by providing options for me in my life. People can offer me different ways of living my life. People also need to be very clear to me. They need to be straight up about everything and not offer the silver lining.
